

YOUR PATH TO THE CPA:

What students need to know

In many states, there are now three ways to become a Certified Public Accountant (CPA). All lead to the same respected license. Choose the one that fits your goals, learning style and timeline.

ALL CPA PATHS REQUIRE:

A college degree with an accounting concentration.

Supervised work experience

Passing the Uniform CPA Exam.

THE THREE LICENSURE PATHWAYS

- Master's Degree +1 Path
- Post-baccalaureate degree with an accounting concentration
- One year of supervised experience
- Passing the CPA Exam

- 2 Bachelor's +30 credit hours +1 Path
- Baccalaureate degree with an accounting concentration
- Up to 30 additional credit hours (can be grad or undergrad)
- One year of supervised experience.
- Passing the CPA Exam

- Bachelor's +2 Path (new)
- Baccalaureate degree with an accounting concentration
- Two years of supervised experience
- Passing the CPA Exam

Check out the student licensure pathway hub for more information

